Access grants

SMALL biotechnology companies looking to develop partnerships abroad have access to grants to help them attend conferences, trade events and meetings.

In the lead-up to the state election, the State Government has put aside $1 million for the Science and Technology International Partnering Program.

Innovation Minister Gavin Jennings, pictured, announced the funding following this week's AusBiotech conference in Melbourne.

The Government has already committed $55 million to the Victorian Biotechnology Action Plan, announced on Tuesday.
