

Media Coverage

Company: AusBiotech
Date: 27 June 2011
Publication: Australian Life Scientist
Page: Online

Buchan

Business Strategy | Communication | Public Policy

Australian biotechs front up at BIO 2011

Over 30 Australian life sciences organisations and biotechnology companies will be present at BIO 2011, which launches today.

The BIO International Convention has long been an institution in the annual life sciences calendar. The latest event, BIO 2011, kicks off today in Washington DC.

The event features keynotes and sessions from policymakers, scientists and CEOs, including a keynote luncheon with former British Prime Minister Tony Blair.

Australia will be fielding a significant contingent, with many antipodean institutions and companies, including:

- Advangen International
- AIMEDICS
- AusBiotech
- Australian Trade Commission
- Bio Innovation SA (Government of South Australia)
- Biopharmaceuticals Australia
- Cellmid
- Clinical Network Services (CNS)
- Datapharm Australia
- Department Of Commerce Western Australia
- DSM Biologics Queensland
- Government of Queensland
- Government of Victoria - Melbourne, Australia
- Griffith University, Griffith Enterprise
- Institute for Molecular Bioscience
- Invetech
- JDJ Bioservices
- Life Sciences Queensland (LSQ)
- Linear Clinical Research
- NICTA
- Novotech
- Nucleus Network
- Office of Trade, Business & Industry NSW

Media Coverage

Company: AusBiotech
Date: 27 June 2011
Publication: Australian Life Scientist
Page: Online

Buchan

Business Strategy | Communication | Public Policy

- Phylogica
- Q-Pharm
- QCTN/Burrill & Company Partnership
- Queensland Clinical Trials Network (QCTN)
- QRxPharma
- Queensland University of Technology
- Radpharm Scientific
- TetraQ
- UniQuest
- Vicibio