

Supporting Information

About the program

The AusBiotech-GSK Student Volunteer Program at AusBiotech's 2010 conference facilitates the active engagement of selected students with conference delegates. The participating students have the opportunity to improve their communication and networking skills and experience by working behind the scenes of a major industry event. The program, proudly supported by GSK, aims to give students a competitive edge in the race for employment in the biotechnology industry.

Successful applicants will receive

- Free registration (includes catering) to AusBiotech 2010 (19 – 22 Oct 2010 in Melbourne) with some designated free time to explore the conference as a delegate.
- A ticket to the conference dinner (black tie event) on Thursday 21 Oct 2010.
- A training and team building workshop to improve your networking and other broad skills so that you may the best use of your opportunities.
- Opportunity to network and engage with key industry workers.
- Special AusBiotech-GSK Student Volunteer T-shirt.
